Senators Rate War, Inflation As Top Issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six re-elected-minded senators agreed today that the war in Viet Nam is the dominant issue in the minds of the voters. But they differed on its likely impact at the polls.

Fresh from Easter recess campaign stunts, the six reported home-front concern about rising prices, too.

"For a fellow with a dangerous opponent," said Democratic Sen. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma, "why, of course, these are dangerous issues."

Thirty-five Senate seats are at stake in November's elections. Four senators have announced they will not seek re-election, but most of the other 31 are already campaigning.

Finds Uncertainty

"I sense a general attitude of uncertainty," said Republican Sen. J. Caleb Boggs of Delaware. "Uncertainty about the Viet Nam situation, about what inflation is going to do, about whether taxes are going up."

"Viet Nam is very much on their minds," Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, a Democrat, said of the New Hampshire voters who sent him to the Senate six years ago. "Unless we get a better picture coming out of Viet Nam, it will be very important at the polls."

McIntyre said he thinks the Asian war is likely to hurt incumbents seeking re-election to Congress, whether they are Democrats or Republicans.

The New Hampshire senator told of one woman who described his vote for Viet Nam spending as a vote to send her son to the Asian combat zone.

War Is Worry

"Viet Nam is a matter of deep concern and worry," said Republican Sen. Jack R. Miller of Iowa. "As of now, it has not become a partisan issue." Miller said he hopes it will not.

"I think the No. 1 concern is Viet Nam," said Sen. John J. Sparkman, D-Ala. "I believe the great majority of people in my state back the administration on this."

Sparkman said he does not think the Vietnamese war will hurt incumbents in the coming elections. In Alabama, he said, virtually all the candidates are in general agreement with current U.S. policy there.

A campaign aide to Sen. Gordon L. Allott, R-Colo., said "as far as we're concerned in Colorado, the No. 1 thing on people's minds is the cost of living."

"Viet Nam is very much on their minds," he said. "But they don't know what to do about it. They want something done about the cost of living."

Fewer Jobless

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Only 6,000 persons were unemployed last month in the Kent-Ottawa county labor force of 192,500, according to a report Thursday by the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

Frank Christensen, manager of the MESCC branch in Grand Rapids, said the jobless figure was 3.1 per cent of the total work force. He expected the jobless ranks to dwindle this month to a percentage of 2.7.

Ford Charges Administration With 'Shocking Mismanagement' Of War

Johnson Endorses Summit Meet With Latin-American Leaders

MEXICO CITY (AP) — President Johnson endorsed today a proposal for him to meet with Latin-American chiefs of state to speed up the work of the Alliance for Progress.

Johnson gave a broad review of U.S. policy toward Latin America in a speech prepared for delivery at the unveiling of a statue of Abraham Lincoln in a park in Mexico City's Polanco residential section.

Referring to the summit meeting proposed by Argentine President Arturo Illia, he said: "I will in the months ahead join with Latin-American leaders in exploring the proposal for a new meeting at the very highest level to examine our common problems and to give the Alliance for Progress increased momentum."

Although warning that "any such conference should be prepared with utmost care," Johnson added that "careful preparation need not be the enemy of imaginative action."

There has been speculation recently that the U.S. President may visit South America before the end of the summer, and a summit meeting could provide the occasion for his visit.

Unveil Statue

The unveiling of the $150,000 bronze statue, which the U.S. Congress authorized as a gift to the Mexican people, was a high point of the President's hastily arranged 24-hour visit to Mexico's capital. Today is the 101st anniversary of Lincoln's assassination.

The visit began with a thundering welcome Thursday night which left Johnson a bit weary but exhilarated. Today he mixed more public appearances and private talks with Mexican President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz at Los Pinos, the Mexican White House.

Johnson in his speech declared, "We are engaged in a vast social revolution touching the lives of millions of people on two continents."

"Like Lincoln's this is a test of whether freedom can work."

Overcome Past

"It is a test of whether men in liberty can overcome the weight of the past and lift from their brothers the blight of hunger, the blindness of ignorance and the burden of disease. We are in the midst of that test."

In other major points, Johnson said: "The United States will continue to concentrate assistance mainly in economic and social fields 'and to encourage our Latin-American neighbors, where possible, to limit their outlays for military purposes.'"

Integration Vital

"The United States will continue to work to stabilize earnings of traditional Latin-American exports 'while assisting efforts to expand those new exports on which Latin-American trade will increasingly depend.'"

"Latin-American economic integration is vital to hemispheric development."

"The United States is committed 'to government by the consent of the governed — a consent to be granted in free and honest elections. It does not seek to impose on others any form of government. But let us stand determined on this principle: Despotism is not welcome in this hemisphere.'"

Johnson said that one ambition of his presidency is to work with other hemispheric nations to close the several hundred miles of the Darien Road gap in Panama and Colombia.

Bus Drivers Go Back To Work

DETROIT (AP)—After a two-day strike, 48 bus drivers in suburban Van Buren School District agreed to return to work today, pending a fact-finding report by the Michigan Labor Mediation Board.

Accord was reached in a three-hour conference Thursday between union and school board attorneys and mediators with Circuit Judge Horace W. Gilmore.

A LARGE PORTRAIT of President Johnson and his wife is erected Thursday on Mexico City's Paseo de la Reforma, the city's principal downtown boulevard, in preparation for their arrival later today. Today the President was to attend the dedication of a statue of Abraham Lincoln presented by the United States to Mexico. Bienvenidos is Spanish for welcome. (AP Wirephoto)

State Budget Nears $1 Billion, May Drop

LANSING (AP)—The potential state general fund budget for 1966-67 nudged $1 billion today, legislative committee figures showed.

But fiscal experts in the House and Senate predicted it would decline to some point below that mark before the last bill was passed.

And House Ways and Means Committee members insisted their working figures will be subject to a great deal of revision before they are approved.

The committee introduced discretionary spending bills totaling $286.1 million Thursday. Coupled with $478.1 million introduced by the Senate Appropriations Committee Tuesday and Wednesday, they bring the total in general fund budget bills to $764.2 million.

Eats Into Surplus

A nearly $500 million school aid bill now under consideration would push the budget past the billion-dollar mark and wipe out the estimated $134 million surplus the state expects to have on hand at the end of the current fiscal year.

Gov. George Romney said earlier he expected his $945 million budget to eat up about half the surplus.

Sen. Garland Lane, D-Flint, chairman of the appropriations committee, estimated that with the school aid formula being contemplated by the House the potential budget stands at about $1,059 billion — $114.2 million above Romney's recommendations.

With the aid formula being contemplated by the Senate, he said, it stands at about an even $1 billion.

"At what level will it wind up?" he was asked. "Below $1 billion?" "How far below?" "Your guess is as good as mine."

Erlendson Comments

Rep. Einar Erlendson, D-Escanaba, chairman of ways and means, said the House figures "are quite close to the governor's." But they are only working figures—developed by a group of subcommittees, he said.

"They haven't even been looked at by the full committee yet," he said. "And in many places we just put in a tentative figure to plug a gap in our information. There's a lot of work to be done yet."

The bills were referred back to committee as soon as they were introduced. Each chamber has until next Friday to pass all of its own bills.

The bills introduced Thursday include $37.7 million for State Police, military affairs and public safety and defense; $24.00 million for agriculture, conservation, recreation; $69.4 million for the executive, legislative and judicial branches of government, including state, civil service, and treasury departments.

Also included are $138 million for social services and welfare, and $17.3 million for other departments, including child rights, labor, licensing and regulatory services.

Catholic Bishops Support Efforts On Open Housing

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's Roman Catholic bishops today called on all members of their church to support efforts aimed at ending discrimination housing throughout the state.

The conference, headed by the Most Rev. John F. Dearden, Archbishop of Detroit, said Catholics cannot discriminate in selling their home nor should they patronize real estate agents who foster discrimination.

Jakarta Mob Ruins Ornate China Embassy

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — More than 2,000 Indonesian Chinese wrecked the ornate Communist Chinese Embassy in Jakarta today after a huge rally demanding that Indonesia break relations with Peking.

Indonesian troops made little effort to stop the mob as it crashed a truck through the 15-foot gate in front of the fortress-like embassy, then smashed into the building.

More than 60 armed Indonesian soldiers protected about 30 embassy staff members who threw stones, bottles and chairs at the attackers, most of them Indonesian Chinese students.

Buddhists Agree To Election Plan

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Buddhist leaders in Saigon today reaffirmed their support of the military government's plans to hold elections in three to five months and called off future demonstrations. But they threatened to send their supporters in to the streets again if the elections are not held as promised.

The all-day policy session did not discuss one of the major political issues still undecided — whether to demand the immediate resignation of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's regime or allow it to stay in office and prepare the voting. Presumably this will be discussed later.

In the North, however, a demand was made for the government to step down. It was coupled with a threat of new demonstrations.

The war against the Viet Cong remained at a near standstill with the U.S. 101st Airborne and the Marines carrying the brunt of the ground effort. However, U.S. Air Force and Navy jets smashed deep into North Viet Nam on 35 missions Thursday, hitting troop barracks, oil and munition dumps, bridges and roads.

The planes also caught several trucks near the Mu Gia Pass, an infiltration route to the South where B52s created huge landslides earlier this week.

Two U.S. B57 jet bombers collided over water near Da Nang, but the crewmen ejected safely. The U.S. military announced that 306 planes had been lost over North and South Viet Nam up to last Tuesday, an increase of seven since the last report 18 days ago.

A call for an immediate change of leadership came from Ky's military rival, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh Thi, whose ouster as 1st Corps commander a month ago set off the wave of unrest. Thi told a newsmen in Da Nang: "We must have an immediate change of government. There must be a government of the people supported by the people. I don't think the people have confidence in the government of Premier Ky."

A council of 10 influential monks met at the Buddhist Institute in Saigon to thrash out the next move in a campaign that has so far forced the government to yield to most of the Buddhist demands.

Ford Calls For Understanding On Car Safety

WOODHAVEN, Mich. (AP)—Henry Ford II said today the auto industry is being subjected to unwarranted attacks from all sides on the question of auto safety.

Ford, board chairman of the Ford Motor Co., departed from his prepared remarks at the dedication of a new $100-million stamping plant in this Detroit suburb to make a strong defense of industry policies.

"When 50,000 people a year are killed in auto accidents that is a bad situation," he said, "but no one can say we are not interested in auto safety."

"We have always built safe cars, but that is not to say we cannot make them safer and we are trying to do so."

Ford centered much of his fire on industry critic Ralph Nader, who told a Senate committee Thursday that the Volkswagen had some safety problems as well as domestic cars.

"If he is that good an engineer we have some jobs here and I'll be glad to give him one, but I don't think he knows what he's talking about," Ford said.

He continued emphatically, "If the critics who know nothing about the automobile business will get out of the way, we will do the job."

Ford raised the question of whether auto safety hearings had reached the point where they might endanger the industry's overall economy.

"I question whether they (the critics) have considered the possible economic impact on our business and on the nation's overall economy."

"When you tell an industry what it can do and what it cannot do you create many problems, particularly if the people who are doing the telling do not understand the auto business. I hope the gentlemen in Washington will consider carefully the possibility that what they are doing, what they are passing along to the auto industry, might in some fashion upset the economy of the country."

"We are in trouble in the auto industry right now, but we are going to fight our way out," he said.

Chase Osborn III Leaps To Death At Port Huron

PORT HURON (AP)—A man leaped to his death from the International Blue Water Bridge today, police reported.

Police said a car registered to Chase S. Osborn III, St. Clair city attorney and grandson of former Gov. Chase S. Osborn, was found parked on the bridge near the spot where the man leaped 152 feet into the water.

A briefcase belonging to Osborn was found in the car, officers said.

The bridge spans the St. Clair River and links Michigan and Ontario, Canada.

Witnesses on the Ontario side said they saw a man get out of the car, walk to the bridge railing and jump. They said he appeared to struggle for a moment and then sank beneath the surface of the water.

State Police skindivers were searching the swift-flowing river for the body.

Calls Backup In Saigon Shipping Almost Scandal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, who has spent more than 80 hours before congressional committees this year, faces more congressional questioning about bomb shortage charges and his readiness policies.

Republican House Leader Gerald R. Ford said Thursday McNamara "will be asked many questions" after the House returns from its Easter recess.

Ford showed every sign of boring ahead with his charge that the Johnson administration is guilty of "shocking mismanagement" of the war effort.

He was unconvinced by McNamara's assertion that "there isn't any" shortage of bombs for the Viet Nam war and that there is no truth to the mismanagement allegation.

While Democrats, too, have challenged McNamara's readiness policies, the Republican House leader's volley had the sound of an official GOP position for the coming congressional election campaigns.

Ford kicked off the latest skirmish over readiness when he called a news conference, made his "shocking mismanagement" charge, and:

Bomb Shortage

Spoke of reports that "we are running short of bombs despite all the billions we have voted for defense."

Declared "the backup of shipping in Saigon harbor is almost a national scandal."

The GOP leader said: "The evidence that is coming to light about things in the Pentagon that are not as they should be certainly raises questions as to whether we are prepared to do what our troops were ordered to do in Viet Nam."

Several hours later McNamara held a news conference of his own at the Pentagon.

He replied: "I don't think there is any basis whatever" for charges of mismanagement or bomb shortages. "It just isn't true," he said.

McNamara Rebuts

Bomb production is rising so that by June the output will equal the 50,000-ton-a-month air assault on communist targets in both North Viet Nam and South Viet Nam. Current plans call for dumping more than 600,000 tons of bombs on the enemy this year.

"There is just no shipping problem out there on military cargoes," McNamara said he could not vouch for economic aid or commercial cargoes.

Backing up McNamara was his deputy secretary, Cyrus R. Vance, newly returned from an inspection of logistics, shipping and other aspects of the U.S. military buildup in Viet Nam.

Vance said that while he was in Viet Nam only 34 ships with military cargoes were waiting to be unloaded or in the process of being unloaded. This was a "wholly satisfactory situation" in the view of logistics officers, the Pentagon's second ranking official said.

McNamara contended that 40 to 44 ships being unloaded or standing by to be unloaded is considered normal, so "we actually were a little below normal."

122 Ships Waiting

At the same time, the defense chief acknowledged that, when he was in Viet Nam last November, he found 122 ships backed up. Some, he said, were being held as far away as Subic Bay in the Philippines.

But Ford—who said the Republican party supports President Johnson's basic policy in Viet Nam—refused to let McNamara have the last word in this round.

The GOP leader attacked from another flank, citing the withdrawal of thousands of seasoned U.S. Army specialists and officers from Europe to help train recruits and draftees and to provide the nucleus for new combat units, some destined for Viet Nam.

"At the same time that the Viet Nam effort is suffering from these shortages," Ford said, "the overall combat readiness has definitely been diminished by a draw-down of men and materiel from Europe to meet Viet Nam demands."

Expert Explains Phone Bugging

BOSTON (AP) — A manufacturer of electronic listening devices has told Massachusetts lawmakers how to eavesdrop by telephone wires on a conversation thousands of miles away.

Here's the system, as described by Emanuel Mittleman of Wireless Guitar Co., New York:

Attach an electronic device about the size of your little finger inside an ordinary telephone. Then from anywhere in the country, call the number of the bugged phone.

But before it rings, blow a preset note on a harmonica to activate the bug and shut off the bell.

Now the device will pick up any conversation that takes place close enough to the phone so that the human ear could hear it, and the conversation will be transmitted to you by telephone wires.

This happens so long as the receiver remains on the cradle of the bugged telephone. Meanwhile, anyone calling the bugged phone gets a busy signal.

Retired Specialists Open New Frontier In Schooling

There's a new frontier in education that is receiving the assistance of a former Escanaba resident, C. Louis Harrison, former U. S. Forest supervisor, now retired and living in Colorado.

Harrison is teamed with seven other retired "specialists" who are teaching youngsters in a program sponsored by the Jefferson County (Colo.) School District. The study is financed by a grant from the Joseph Fels Foundation of New York City.

Among the eight "teachers" who work half-time in the special project to extend the educational opportunities of the boys and girls are a former dean of the Air Force Academy, a former FBI agent, a former professor of chemistry and others.

Supervisor Here

The value of the program will be studied for a three-year period, then continue or not as determined by the School Board and superintendent.

Harrison was supervisor of National Forests in Escanaba from 1949 to 1957. He was assigned to a forest in Missouri and after retirement in 1964 returned to his native state of Colorado.

When the "Specialists in Residence" opportunity came along Harrison accepted at once.

He spends two and one-half days a week at the Outdoor School, teaching 150 sixth graders. While he has never worked with youngsters before "except those I've raised" he said he is learning teaching techniques as the weeks go by.

Pilot Program

His classes are outdoors, along the trails and fields and woods that surround the Jefferson County Outdoor Laboratory School. The man who spent 38 years in the Forest Service and is now 63 years old has a fresh and enthusiastic message for the young people he is teaching.

He is dedicated to the idea that natural beauty of the outdoors can be preserved through proper planning and coordination with man's needs.

This is the first year of the three-year program, and therefore it is considered too early to do a formal evaluation of the project, school officials in Jefferson County said. But the utilization of the talents of retired people to teach has aroused the interest of educators in many parts of the country.

These retired specialists have "valuable experiences to communicate" and the test is to determine if the men can successfully communicate their knowledge to the students. One thing is certain, educators said, the school district and the students are receiving the benefit of talent they would be unable to obtain during the active lives of the men.

In Old Vienna:

Music Is Serious, Life Is Gay

An Escanaba young man who is extending and developing his musical experience with study in Vienna, writes that he is "getting to know Austria through its music halls."

He is Stan R. Hale, son of the Stanley Hales of 1635 16th Ave. S. He enrolled in the Vienna Academy of Music and Dramatic Arts as a fulltime student last October, and will continue his advanced studies there for two years.

Hale began playing the viola in the Escanaba public schools music program as a child, was a member of the High School Orchestra, and graduated from EHS in 1960. He entered the University of Michigan, was a member of the University Symphony Orchestra and the Music School's Honors Quartet, and completed his studies there in 1964.

Life in Vienna is stimulating and enjoyable, Hale reports in letters to his parents and to his sisters, Sandra and Judith. He describes the colorful balls that are an outstanding entertainment in the gay city whose musical heritage includes the melodious Strauss waltzes.

There has been the opportunity to perform in a number of concerts and more recently he has done some recording with his professor, he reported.

"I'm a regular member of two musical organizations in Vienna," he wrote. "One is a small chamber orchestra organized and directed by my professor, Edward Melkus, which gives concerts about once a month in a concert hall built in Baroque style especially for concerts of a group like ours."

The orchestra members are students and professors of the Akademie der Musik of Vienna. We play almost exclusively music of the Baroque period, using instruments of the 18th century. For instance, I play a viola that was made in Italy about 1660. It is with this group that I will be making recordings — with Deutsche Grammophon, Europe's largest recording industry, as a matter of fact.

"The other group is one of the three major symphony orchestras of Vienna, which performs as often as three times weekly in Vienna's best known concert hall, the main hall of the Musikverein building. The name of our orchestra, literally translated, is Upper Austrian Tone Artists Orchestra."

"We also do several nationwide radio broadcasts at the center for the Austrian Broadcasting Co. here in Vienna. In addition we often perform concerts in the larger towns of Upper Austria, sometimes 100 miles distant. I'm getting to know Austria through its concert halls!"

Legislators Talk Of Investigation In MSU-CIA Link

EAST LANSING (AP) — The possibility has been raised of a legislative investigation into a connection between Michigan State University and the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) in South Viet Nam.

Rep. Jack Faxon, D-Detroit, says he plans to discuss an investigation with fellow members of the House ways and means committee.

What authority the Legislature would have over Michigan State, governed by a constitutionally created board of trustees, was a question.

The university was accused in a Ramparts magazine article of having served as a front for CIA agents while engaged in a multimillion-dollar aid project advising the government of the late Viet Nam President Ngo Dinh Diem.

An MSU spokesman acknowledged that CIA men were among those on the staff but contended the university did not find out about their role until later, after which they were dropped.

Bogus Repairman Rifles Purses

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The "air conditioning repairman" walked into the building and went to work — rifling purses left by women office workers who were on a coffee break.

Police said the thief took $150 Wednesday and left without even looking at the disabled air-conditioning system.

To make matters worse, officers shamefacedly reported, the scene of the crime was a gathering place for off-duty police — men and women — and firemen: the Police and Fire Protective League.

Made In Powers:

Hydraulic Device 'Product' Winner

A hydraulic governing device invented, manufactured and marketed nationally by Monrad E. Iverson of Powers has been named Menominee County "Product of the Year" for entry in the statewide Michigan Week contest, Products Chairman James E. Gribble, Menominee, announced today.

Gribble said the "Mi Hydraulic Control" manufactured by Spalding Hydraulics, Inc., of Powers was unanimously chosen to represent Menominee County in regional competition.

All county winners must be submitted for regional judging by Monday, April 25. Regional winners must be submitted by Thursday, May 5, for state judging. State winners will be announced during Michigan Week, May 15-21.

Last year's Michigan Week winner was the F-28 helicopter developed by the R. J. Enstrom Corp. of Menominee.

The "Mi Hydraulic Control" was developed by Iverson and introduced to loggers in Northern Michigan and Wisconsin for "smoother and faster operation of hydraulic loading equipment."

The control mechanism, which looks something like a space gun out of Buck Rogers, links hydraulic mechanisms with internal combustion engines and serves to regulate engine speed to provide smooth pressure.

It was patented, No. 3,214,901, on Nov. 2, 1965, and is currently sold and used in 19 states from coast to coast.

According to Iverson, the Mi Control will control any combination engine used to operate hydraulic equipment such as hydraulic backhoes, cranes, ditch diggers, dump trucks, hydraulic driven hoisting drums, elevators, post hole diggers, pulpwood and log loaders, street light equipment and trucks driven by hydraulic motors.

"The engine will increase engine RPM as more pressure is needed and decrease as pressure drops off," Iverson said.

Iverson, who is president, chief machinist and top salesman for Spalding Hydraulics, said manufacture of the device is "still a workshop operation."

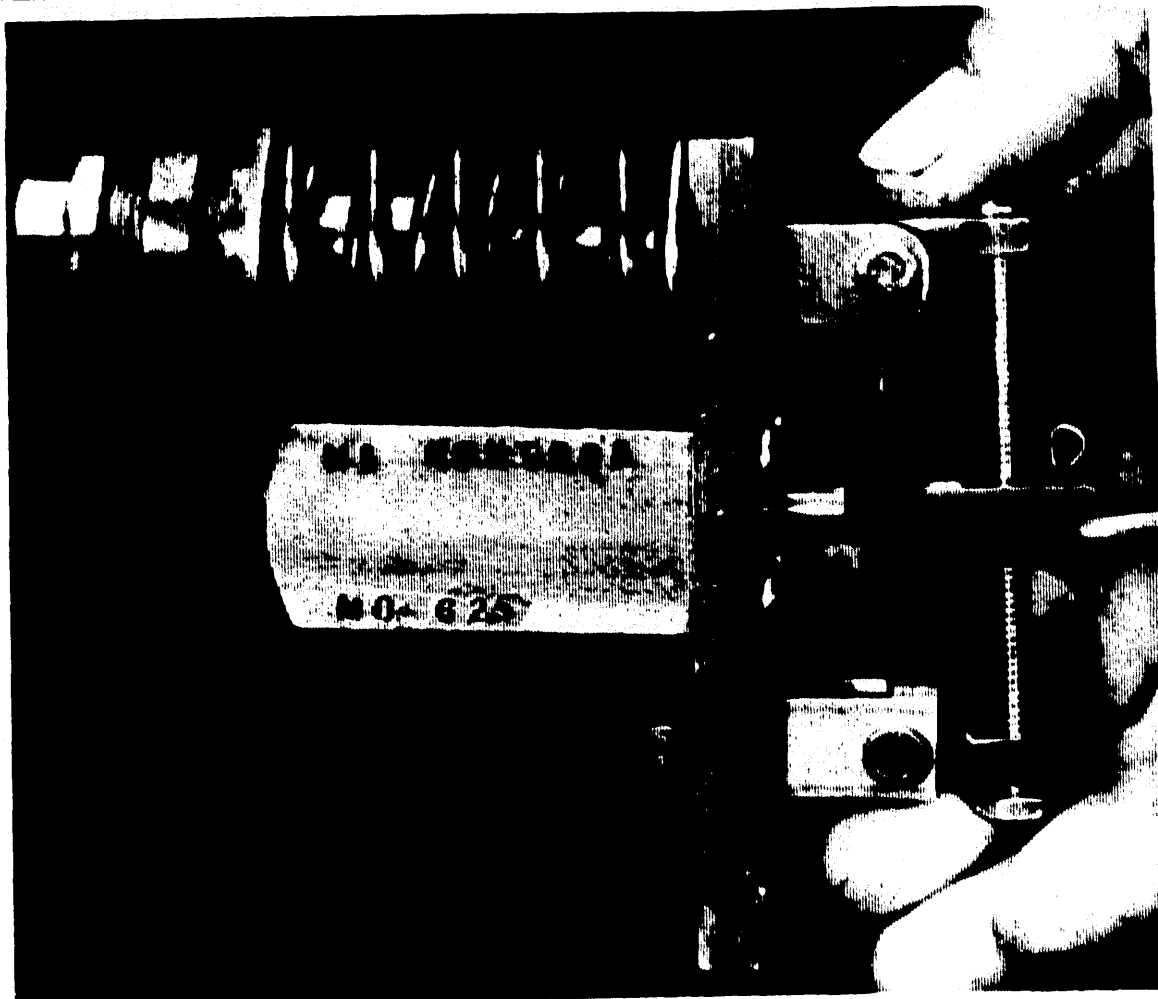

Development of the product was started in 1962 when Iverson, who was then a salesman for hydraulic equipment to loggers, could see a need for a control device.

Iverson said he makes the Mi Control in a workshop at his home, doing all the work himself "as long as I can keep up with orders." He produced 140 units last month.

Basically, the Mi Control sells for $40. Special sizes, however, are also manufactured for special situations.

Iverson is a former resident of Escanaba. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Iverson reside at 200 N. 11th St.

Inflation Hits Housing

Home Value Hike Zooming

Inflation may still be a debatable question in Washington today, but its an unavoidable fact in the Michigan home market, the Upper Peninsula Board of Realtors was told Thursday afternoon at its quarterly meeting in the House of Representatives by a government official.

Kyle Sinclair, of the Federal Housing Administration office at Grand Rapids, told the realtors that since a December sampling the prices of dwellings had increased 8 to 10 per cent and the prices had been going up steadily before then.

"I don't think it's going to be any better in the future, either," said Sinclair "but I'll be able to answer better on that in June."

"The increase has been unusually accelerated. Usually it is only 2 to 3 per cent a year. I've never seen anything like the last three months. If it doesn't change I don't know what it's going to be like in 1970."

FHA Use Spotty
Charles Burton, Gladstone realtor, presided at the session, which heard realtors from the U. P., Lower Peninsula and Wisconsin on problems of real property sales, and a talk by Atty. Wheaton Strom on the realtor's contractual obligations. He recommended careful record keeping of relationships with clients for the protection of both parties and for maximum service to clients.

Sinclair told of the use of FHA home mortgage insurance in the U. P. The record of usage of this government agency for the guarantee of home mortgages is very spotty, with banks in some U. P. cities not participating at all, others participating on a selective basis.

A serious impediment to bank use of FHA mortgage guarantees, the discussion indicated, was that FHA's interest rates are consistently about a half per cent in interest under commercial bank loans.

FHA Interest
The present FHA interest rate on home loans is 5 1/2 per cent, plus one half per cent for premium insurance, or a total of 6 1/4 per cent.

Banks and building and loan associations are making loans on conventional mortgages at from 6 to 7 per cent interest. FHA insurance runs as much as 30 years on mortgages and banks are generally reluctant to make such long term investments. Discussion revealed, however, that the average home mortgage is retired in 10 years, not always by being paid off, but by payoff, resale or some other retirement.

Banks in Escanaba make FHA loans on a "point" system. This is a discount system which rewards the bank for taking less than the going rate of interest on the mortgage by discounting it on a point system. Usually one quarter per cent in interest rate increase means a decrease of two points. A two point discount on a $10,000 mortgage would mean a $200 discount paid to the bank at the time it made the loan.

Home Costs

Sinclair said FHA now requires that on new construction there be 100 feet of isolation between well and sewage disposal field, and that existing properties supply a test report showing that the water is pure. "The sewage effluent goes through the ground so well it gives us an awful lot of trouble with septic systems and wells," said Sinclair.

Realtors, discussing the very

U.P. Costs

Homes in the Upper Peninsula cost more to build than the same homes in the Lower Peninsula.

Federal Housing Administration officials reported this to the U. P. Board of Realtors Thursday in Escanaba.

Escanaba has the lowest home construction costs of any U. P. city, they said. Houghton and Ironwood costs are about 3 per cent higher than those in Escanaba.

But across the U. P. home building costs are approximately 25 per cent above those in the lower part of the Lower Peninsula. The top of the Lower Peninsula has costs about 12 per cent higher than the bottom of the state.

rapid rise in home costs, said that labor costs were a chief problem. One cited "bricklayers at $42 a day who don't lay any more bricks than they used to."

Costs in the Ironwood and Superior, Wis., area were described as the highest in the nation. A realtor in that district said that he had been offering a listing of a new home in that area to sell for $20,000 and he was surprised that as much home could be built for that figure, which the owner described as his actual cost.

Chicago Wages

The owner explained that he had hired a local carpenter-contractor to build his home, but had pulled him off the hourly-rate, no-price-limit job and brought in a crew of construction workers from Chicago to finish the house. Even after paying their expenses, he said, he was ahead.

Chicago labor costs were $4.75 an hour against $3.75 for the local area, but productivity was immensely higher. A local carpenter took 3 1/2 hours to hang a door, a Chicago carpenter rated it a 30 minute job. One Chicago tilesetter laid up 6 ceramic tub alcoves in one day.

Realistic Prices
Sinclair said that in southernmost Michigan a contractor will take $250 profit on a $20,000 house and make his income on volume. "And the quality of work is pretty good," said Sinclair.

Fire Insurance Bill Opposed

The Board of Directors of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce unanimously opposed the passage of State House Bill 3165 and Senate Bill 888 known as the public school fire insurance fund at its April meeting held yesterday afternoon at the Chamber building. Vice President W. J. Lavolette conducted the meeting in the absence of President Forrest Henslee.

The bills would create a state fund to pay all losses to property of public schools from the perils of fire, extended coverage, vandalism and malicious mischief and for all schools to drop their present insurance with private companies. The bills would force all school districts except Detroit, Flint and Grand Rapids to insure their properties in a state fund. The proven security of private insurance would be disregarded and the present authority of local boards of education in such matters would stop.

Jon Taylor, local insurance agent, in analyzing the bills for the Board, said that the actual cost to the schools would be higher under the state plan than under private insurance.

The Board accepted as members of the Chamber Zimmerman Sewing, assigned to Walter Zimmerman; Club A Go-Go, assigned to Eugene Smithneck; and Goodman Division, Calumet & Hecla, assigned to A. C. Baudek.

Plan Seminar

Copies of the program for the Upper Peninsula Citizenship Seminar sponsored by the Chamber and the County Farm Bureaus in Upper Michigan were distributed to Board members.

The seminar will be held July 12 and 13 in the Wm. W. Oliver Auditorium and will feature Cleon Skousen, author, lecturer and attorney at law; Dr. Lewis Lloyd, business economist, Dow Chemical Co., Midland; Dr. Clifton Ganus, president of Harding College, Searcy, Ark.; Hugo Kivi, Michigan Farm Bureau field representative, and Walter Lewke, Chamber manager. The seminar will be open to the public.

Dean Abbott, chairman of the Retail Division, reported on plans for the April Coupon Day and May Escanaba Days.

The Chamber will host three captains and their wives from K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base on Saturday.

Hosts for the cocktail hour and dinner at the Dells Supper Club will be Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Jon Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Zenker.

Ships and Trailers

The Board heard a progress report on a new ordinance drafted by the Chamber's Ordinance Committee, Gabriel Meretky, chairman, with city officials, which would define, regulate and license transient merchants, itinerant merchants, itinerant vendors, peddlers and hawkers and provide penalties for the violation thereof. The ordinance will have its first reading at the next meeting of the City Council.

Lewke advised the Board that the Travel Trailer Clubs of the Midwest will rendezvous in Escanaba at the Upper Peninsula State Fair Grounds, arriving July 13 and leaving the morning of the 15th at 8 a. m. About 60 trailers will be in the caravan.

The Chamber will arrange an appropriate welcome for the members of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce who will visit Escanaba on Wednesday, June 15 on the SS South American.

The Board unanimously opposed the passage of House Bill 2336. The Board concurred with the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce that passage of such a law will hamper the general business community in its dealings in the consumer credit field.

The Board adopted a resolution expressing sympathy in the loss of an outstanding civic leader in the recent death of Alfred Brandt, a member of the Project Pride Committee, and chairman of the Chamber's Building and Grounds Committee.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise: I am a fireman in a large city...

I take the liberty of writing to you, hoping you will print this in your column:

Fire extinguishers are fairly inexpensive now, and can be bought in aerosol-type cans at hardware, drug and department stores.

Every housewife should have at least one in the home. By using one of these, she can often put out a fire -- if discovered before it has an opportunity to spread.

One CAUTION, however: Before buying a fire extinguisher, be SURE to read the directions, and note contents on the can. Purchase one that is ALSO effective on grease and electrical fires.

Ingredients in these canned products differ. Some are NOT to be used on electrical fires.

Fireman Father

Thank you, sir. I agree 100% Heloise

Dear Heloise: When I buy a large bottle of creme rinse, I put the rinse in a plastic squeeze bottle. I can squeeze out just the exact amount needed each time.

Also, as I pour it into the plastic bottle, I add some water to dilute it right then. This way I never waste any.

Joyce Harlow

Dear Heloise: Several months ago I read in your column about peanut butter taking gum out of little girls' hair.

Thank goodness my little bubble-blowers haven't gotten gum in their hair yet but I do know the peanut butter works wonderfully for getting the gum off their faces when a bubble pops!

Suburbanite Is Horizontal Yo-Yo

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the unsolved problems of the "Great Society" is what to do about suburbanites.

At present they don't quite fit into either the government's antipoverty or foreign aid programs, but certainly something needs to be done to help them.

Life is getting too tough for them out there on the farthest rim of civilization.

They fled to the suburbs originally to escape the poisoned air and crowded clutter of the cities. They thought they would find health of body and peace of mind away from the human herd.

But it hasn't worked out that way. Show me a suburbanite and I'll show you an ambulant neurosis, a man overwhelmed by an environment beyond his ability to cope with.

Let us consider Ronald Halacre, a typical suburbanite. He is a horizontal yo-yo who rides a train five mornings a week to his job in the city, and rides home five evenings a week to a mortgage-covered cottage in the suburbs that looks like it had been cut out of cardboard by a child with a rusty pair of scissors.

Looks 50

Ronald is 35 and looks 50. His thinning hair is whitening fast, his eyes are feverish, his face twitches, and he smokes four packs of cigarettes a day.

What has made Ronald old before his time are those long weekends in the suburbs. They are simply more than human flesh can bear.

A suburban weekend is an adventure in frenzy, a mixture between a Roman orgy and a basic training course with the U.S. Marines. If you have the idea that suburbanites spend their weekends listening to the birds, forget it. All they hear is the bats in their belfry.

Multiply His Problem

Ronald never stops going from the time he steps off his train Friday night until his weary wife shovels his limp frame aboard the 8:12 express Monday morning.

What does he do? Ronald parties until nearly dawn, then gets up and paints and scrapes walls and plants beans and fights crab grass and asphyxiates himself burning hot dogs in a backyard pit and parties some more and stays up until dawn again and drives the kids to the beach and parties at the Country Club and parties at the neighbors, paint the walls and fight the crab grass and parties some more, and yackety-yackety-yaks, and before he knows it, Monday dawn is shining and he is lying there in bed sweating and silently screaming.

Multiply his problem 30 million times and you can see why this is a problem that requires government action. Only the government is big enough to deal with it. But unless it does something, American suburbanites probably will go the way of the dodo and the dinosaur.

Ronald's worst fear is that his office may go on a four-day work week. That means he'd have to face a three-day weekend in the suburbs, and he knows that would be the death of him.

FLOOR PLANS: A long center hall arrangement is the hub of an excellent traffic pattern. Note that it is possible to reach this hall through a side service door as well as through the front entry. The three-bedroom second floor includes a huge deck over the main-floor patio.

Colonial On A Modest Lot

COLONIAL COMFORT: The best features of traditional design are incorporated into the exterior of this pleasant-looking four-bedroom house, which has a modest frontage and is two stories high, yet avoids the too-vertical look that many persons dislike.

By ANDY LANG

This attractive two-story colonial home has as its theme livability, practicality and economy. Designed in the American tradition, its charm is devoid of gimmicks or tricks, and its layout should provide full, comfortable living.

The house can be placed on a moderate-sized plot, since it has a frontage of 42' 6". The squarish shape means savings in construction costs—yet note the pleasing appearance of the short partitions of 2', with an opening between the rooms of 9'.

The informal part of the home is toward the rear. It includes the family room, kitchen and breakfast room. The large patio is accessible from both the family room and breakfast area through sliding doors. The kitchen has an abundance of cabinet space and counter space, and is equipped with counter-top range, wall oven, refrigerator, dishwasher and two sinks, all arranged in a U-shape. The family room, which has a pass-through window from the kitchen, has a fireplace and dropped ceiling beams. A laundry, lavatory and closet space comprise the service area. Entrance from the garage is through this service area into the main part of the house.

Design G-31's second floor features a natural-lighted hall, with sliding doors leading out to a deck running across the entire rear of the house. In addition to this dimension of nearly 27', the deck is 11' 8" deep.

In the master bedroom is a dressing room with four closets and a bathroom with a vanity and shower stall. The second bathroom on the second floor has two basins, a bathtub and a water closet. Three of the four bedrooms have cross ventilation.

The plans for this house include a full basement which houses the heating and provides ample space for transformation into a recreation area if desired.

G-31 STATISTICS

Design G-31 has a living room, dining room, family room, service section, lavatory, kitchen and family room on the first floor with a habitable area of 1384 square feet. There are 1110 square feet on the second floor in the form of four bedrooms and two baths. There is a two-car garage, a ground floor patio, a second-floor deck and plans for a full basement. Overall dimensions are 43' 6" by 47' 9".

The projection of eaves in both the lower and upper roofs is not only practical for weather protection but creates eye-pleasing shadows. The lower portion has a brick finish, with wood siding used on the upper portion.

The desirable center hall has a large entrance vestibule in which there are two closets totaling 7'. This flows into the central foyer, which has access to all other rooms as well as the decorative main stair leading to the second floor.

The living and dining rooms, although flowing into one large space totaling 30' in length and 13' in width, are separated by

Credit Union's Clerk Robbed Of $65,174 In Cash

WARREN (AP)—A credit union clerk reported a robber clouted him on the head with a pistol and escaped with $65,174 from a Warren parking lot Thursday.

Cashier Michael Scherb, 23, said he was taking the money from a bank to the Tek-Ni-Kal Credit Union, which serves the General Motors Technical Center, to cash pay checks when he was accosted by an armed man in a parking lot.

Scherb told police he attempted to out walk the man to his office, but the man hit him over the head with the gun and grabbed the suitcase in which he was carrying the money.

Police said a man burning trash at the rear of the credit union reported he was attracted by the commotion and saw the robber jump into a car driven by a confederate. Police said he got a partial license number.

Scherb described the robber as white, between 20 and 30 years of age, who called Scherb by his last name. He said the gunman was about 5-feet-8 and weighed 180 to 220 pounds.

Lifeboat Davits

PETOSKEY (AP)—A yacht-size version of lifeboat davits on ocean liners has been selected as Emmet County's product of the year for Michigan Week regional competition. Designed by Walstrom Products Co., Inc., of Harbor Springs, the device is mounted on the side of large pleasure cruisers and can be operated by one man in lowering or raising a dinghy.

Dying Waters?

Harvest Plants, Halt Pollution

DETROIT (AP) — A former large body of water as Lake Erie. Detroiters say the best way to solve the problem of weed-clogged waters and dying lakes is to turn the aquatic plant life into food.

But, Howard W. Sterns, conceded, he has been having trouble convincing people to adopt his solution.

Sterns, a former insurance salesman who operates an aquatic controls firm in Hartland, Wis., envisions turning weed-clogged, murky waters into a source of food for starving nations, animal feed and fertilizer.

"It's really a simple solution," he said, explaining that planting and harvesting aquatic plants would sop up troublesome nutrients, such as phosphates and nitrates—blamed as a factor in water pollution. He said it would even work cleaning up such a

Instead of spending billions on chemicals and treatment facilities, work with nature and utilize aquatic plants as a natural resource instead of as waste material," he suggested.

Harvesting, Sterns averred, is the solution.

"The plant products are rich in vitamins, minerals and proteins," he said, and could be used as feed supplement for farm animals as well as a new human food source.

Sterns said equipment operated by one man could scoop up the plants and machines "as large as ships" could be built to harvest crops on large water bodies.

A fog bank hangs off the Aleutian Islands most of the year.

Law's Limit On Road Taxes Is Absolute-Kelley

LANSING (AP)—Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley ruled Thursday that a local vote can not authorize taxes for local road purposes that might exceed the limit set by statute.

"The amount of taxes for county road purposes which may be levied in each county is subject to the limitation prescribed by the statute," Kelley said.

"Such limitation is not subject to increase by vote of the electors authorizing increase in the maximum millage limitation for the levy of taxes."

The question was raised by Sen. Robert Richardson, R-Saginaw.

Record Harvest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mexico is nearing completion of the harvest of a record coffee crop of about three million bags of 132 pounds each, says a publication of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Documentaries Load Networks

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Documentary programs and specials are literally being loaded into the television networks' schedules as the season ends.

Three documentaries, three specials, two premieres and the annual "Oscar Awards Show" crowd the next seven days.

"The Big Guy," an ABC documentary following the careers of two young heavyweight boxers, starts the documentary parade tonight (9-10 EST).

NBC starts a weekly "Viet Nam War Review" Sunday (5-5:30 p.m.) and will present one of its "white paper" series later in the day (6:30-7:30), this one called "Countdown to Zero" about the threat of nuclear proliferation.

"The Oscar Awards Show" on ABC comes up Monday (10 p.m. to midnight or after) with the usual galaxy of stars, statuettes and acceptance speeches. Earlier there will be a one-shot comedy show, "Where's Everett?" on CBS (9:30-10), apparently a pilot program that failed to get a network spot. It concerns an invisible baby from outer space.

On Tuesday ABC will present an hour-long one-shot, still another unsold pilot, called "Assault" (7:30-8:30 p.m.). It is an adventure story about World War II Marines with Gary Lockwood. CBS' News Department special (10-11) will be an interview with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Danny Thomas, starring in a book comedy called "The Road to Lebanon," will be seen on NBC Wednesday (9-10 p.m.) with some help, naturally, from the original "road" boys, Crosby and Hope. Then NBC will present an audience quiz show on political leanings called "Testing: Right, Left or Center?" (10-11).

"Mickie Finn's" will have its premiere on NBC Thursday

Dr. J. E. Maddy Is Hospitalized

TRAVERSE CITY (AP)—Dr. Joseph E. Maddy, 74, world prominent music educator, was reported resting comfortably today at Munson Medical Center in Traverse City after suffering a coronary occlusion.

Maddy is founder - president of the National Music Camp and Interlochen Arts Academy.

Spokesmen said tests were being conducted to determine the severity of the attack which struck Maddy at his Interlochen Home Tuesday night.

Activate Brigade

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department will activate the Army's 199th Infantry Brigade in June at Ft. Benning, Ga. It is the second of three new brigades being activated by the Army.

(9:30-10 p.m.). It is a half-hour musical show in a Gay 90s setting and is intended purely as a summer replacement.

When the cream of the crop of Upper Peninsula prep athletes open the 1966 track and field season with the indoor meet at Northern Saturday, one of the meet records they will be spotting at belongs to Bill Sarnowski of Escanaba. Sarnowski, now a freshman at Central Michigan University, fired the shot put 50 feet 7 inches at Marquette in last year's meet to set the record. One of the chief challengers for that mark is another Esky standout, Jim Hansen, who has already gone over 50 feet in practice this spring.

Two former Kingsford High School grid stars will follow their coach to Northern Michigan University. . . . Rae Drake, highly successful Kingsford prep coach, joined the Northern staff under head coach Rollie Dotch this spring. . . . It was announced this week that Jeff Gill and Bill Bailey, who starred as linemen for Drake, will attend Northern. . . . Gill, a 6 foot 1 inch 185 pound tackle and linebacker, was named lineman of the year by the U. P. Sportswriters Association last fall. . . . Bailey is a 6 foot 1 inch 225 pound center and linebacker.

The Northern Michigan Championship bowling tournament at the Donde Lanes in Sault Ste. Marie had a star studded field which included four bowlers who have spilled perfect games in league or tournament competition. . . . They were Al McDonald of Soo, Pat Muio and Jim Kramer of Canadian Soo and Chuck Motter of Kincheloe AFB.

Back in action for the University of Michigan football team next fall will be Barry Dehlin, grandson of the G. E. Dehlins of Gladstone. . . . He was held out of competition after a knee injury early last season and was granted another year of eligibility by the Big Ten Conference. . . . He has had an operation on the knee and will rejoin the Wolverines in the fall after skipping spring drills.

Jeff Franson was named the most valuable player on the Kingsford High School basketball team at the annual Flivver winter sports banquet. . . . Other Kingsford athletes singled out as most valuable in their sports were Larry Capra in wrestling and Lynn Hiatt in skiing. . . . Dominic Ghiardi, former Gwin coach and currently assistant principal at Negaunee High School, was the main speaker.

Staub's Homers Spell Disaster For Perranoski

By The Associated Press
Rusty Staub, enigmatic to some people, is too painfully transparent to Ron Perranoski and the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Staub, who celebrated his 22nd birthday two weeks ago, has two hits in his fourth season in the majors, and both have had the same effect. They've beaten the Dodgers.

The Houston right fielder smashed a two-run homer against Perranoski Thursday night, climaxing a three-run, eighth-inning rally that carried the Astros past the Dodgers 4-2. His run-scoring single off Perranoski in the ninth inning the night before gave Houston a 7-6 victory.

From the time he was a 19-year-old rookie through the present, Staub has been considered a mystery by many people. They have found it difficult to understand some of his actions.

There was, for example, the night in St. Louis last August when he started home from second on a single. He raced to third and started toward home but suddenly pulled up and trotted the rest of the way to the plate where he was an easy out. Staub simply walked to the dugout, went right past a seething Manager Luman Harris and sat down. He didn't say a word, seeing no reason to explain why he walked into the tag.

As it turned out, though, he had a good reason. In rounding third, the youngster reinjured a thigh muscle. "I knew if I stopped at third and didn't try to score, Luman would think I couldn't run and I'd be out of the line-up," Staub explained. "So as I rounded third I felt the muscle go, and I just pulled up."

"I knew if I tried to keep running, I'd hurt it bad and might be out the rest of the season. I was already around third. I didn't know where the ball was or whether they were even trying to make a play on me, and so the only thing I saw to do was just ease on toward the plate."

In the only other National League games, Philadelphia edged St. Louis 5-4 and Chicago whipped San Francisco 9-4.

Rich Allen's three-run homer capped a four-run first inning that powered Philadelphia past St. Louis. The Phillies scored what proved to be the winning run in the third when Johnny Callison singled, moved around to third on an infield out and a wild pitch and raced across as Bill White grounded out.

Ty Cline rapped five hits and drove in two runs in leading a Chicago attack that gave Lee Durocher his first victory in his new managerial job. Tight relief pitching by Bill Hands and Ted Abernathy stymied the Giants.

RAPID RIVER — Seven seniors and one junior were named to the Central League all-conference basketball squad at the 20th annual league banquet here Thursday night.

The Rapid River Rocket champions landed two players on the honor squad while Cooks, Eben, Garden, Rock, Trenary and Bark River placed one player each on the team.

Honored in the selections made by coaches of the league on an all-opponent basis were Pat Larrabee and Bob Anderson of Rapid River. Phil Hartman of Cooks, Arne Haavisto of Garden, Charles Dube of Rock, Ron Sharkey of Bark River, Harris and Kim Peterson of Trenary, the lone junior.

Gene DeKeyser of Rock, president of the league, served as master of ceremonies and presented the championship trophy to Rapid River. Veteran, 70, Wins Senior Pool Tourney

Herbert McDougall of Germfask, 70 years young, showed the boys the fine points of pool Thursday night as he stroked his way through a 15 man field to the Senior Men's division championship in the city tournament at Club 314.

McDougall didn't lose a single game in his march to the championship, taking two straight games from Bruce Beck, George Bougie and Tim O'Brien, and shutting out Terry Sivertsen, 3-0, in the last of five final matches. The veteran stick artist declined to accept the championship trophy, giving it to Sivertsen as the runner-up. Sivertsen defeated Terry Moore, Jack Pettin and Dennis Reeves in his drive to the finals. Tim O'Brien finished third and Dennis Reeves fourth.

The tourney will continue Monday with competition in the Girls division and will conclude on April 25 with a Tournament of Champions for the finalists of the Boys Junior, Intermediate and Senior Men's divisions competing.

Another Battle Coming

Baseball To Appeal

MILWAUKEE (AP) — One battle over baseball is apparently moving toward an appeals court clash with Wisconsin in its continuing legal tug-of-war over the Braves.

Wisconsin not only expects another fight but says it will help get the case priority status before the State Supreme Court. "If baseball appeals, we would ask the State Supreme Court to take up the case right away," said Atty. Gen. Bronson La Follette Thursday. "We have a state statute that gives priority to cases like this."

"I suppose we would be extremely fortunate if we had a Supreme Court decision by the end of May."

Circuit Judge Elmer W. Roller found baseball Wednesday in violation of Wisconsin antitrust law for allowing the transfer of the Braves from Milwaukee to Atlanta without supplying Milwaukee with a replacement team.

Roller ordered the National League to agree by May 16 to add an expansion team in Milwaukee in 1967. If baseball fails to comply, the Braves must return to Milwaukee this season, the judge said.

Warren Giles, league president, and William Bartholomay, Braves' board chairman, both said Thursday that baseball would immediately appeal the decision.

Baseball Commissioner William D. Eckert has voiced disapproval with the ruling but has offered no plan of action.

La Follette said he anticipated that baseball would appeal as soon as possible. He said an appeal must be made not later than 90 days after the judgment.

"I also expect an attempt by baseball to get a stay of execution (pending appeal) on Judge Roller's ruling," said La Follette. "We would oppose any granting of further stay."

Baseball must first seek a stay from Roller. If he rejects the plea, baseball could then ask the State Supreme Court.

If baseball should be granted a stay by Roller, the judge could set a bond sufficient to protect the state's interests during the appeal process.

La Follette said the court could affirm the Circuit Court judgment, reverse it, or modify it. If an appeal should be rejected, baseball could look to the U.S. Supreme Court for help.

Tigers Sweep Yanks To Lead Early Race

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers, riding atop the American League standings with three straight victories, will start an all-star battery of Jerome Cavanagh and George Romney today as they try to make it four straight against the Washington Senators.

Mayor Cavanagh will throw out the opening pitch of the season in Tiger Stadium and Gov. Romney will catch it.

After that, a couple of guys named Dave Wickersham and Bill Freehan will take over the pitching and catching chores.

The weatherman forecasts warm temperatures and partly sunny skies, a favorable portent for the Tigers' home opener.

They whipped the New York Yankees 3-2 and 5-2 at New York Thursday to make it three straight over the Yankees.

Denny McLain had some control problems but the Tigers capitalized on a Yankee error in the ninth and won the opener 3-2. Bill Monbouquette hurled a brilliant six-hitter to win the nightcap 5-2.

In the first game, Detroit scored in the second inning on a combination of Don Wert's single, a throwing error by Mel Stottlemyre and Mickey Stanley's infield out. The Tigers added one in the fifth when Dick McAuliffe doubled off Roy White's glove and drove in Stanley, who had walked.

New York got its first run on a walk to Joe Pepitone, Tom Tresh's single and Cleve Boyer's infield out. Boyer homered in the eighth for the other Yankee run.

The Tigers won it in the ninth when Gates Brown walked as a pinch hitter, McAuliffe singled and Willie Horton walked.

Norm Cash hit what might have been a double play grounder, but rookie Horace Clark bobbled it and Brown dashed home.

McLain, who left for a pinch hitter in the ninth, was the winner. Pete Ramos took the loss.

The second game saw the Yankees jump to a two-run lead in the second. Pepitone singled and Jake Gibbs slammed a home run.

Detroit tied it right up in the third on singles by McAuliffe, Cash and Kaline and a forceout by Horton.

The Tigers added one in the fourth on Orlando McFarlane's homer and one in the fifth on a Yankee error, a walk to Cash and Kaline's single.

Detroit closed out the scoring in the ninth on a walk to Jerry Lumpe, a double by Cash and a single by Horton.

Jim Duckworth will start for the Senators today. Washington has lost its only game this year.

Germfask Plans Big Celebration

GERMFASK — A centennial celebration is planned July 2-4. Thurman Skarritt, Sr., is chairman of the committee planning the observance.

The community name memorializes last names of settlers—Grant, Edge, Robinson, Mead, French Ackley, Shepard and Knaggs.

The decision was made in a log cabin meeting in 1892. The area was homesteaded, with many coming from Canada and Lower Michigan. A railroad was completed to the town in 1893, and served a mill operated by Hugh Shay. Later it was extended to Pike Lake.

The area is closely associated with the early timber operations, with Chicago Lumbering Co. and others active. Pine logs in the area were reported to have been five to six feet in diameter, yielding six 16-foot logs each. The timber was floated on the Driggs and Manistique rivers to mills at Manistique. Some were railed to the Superior shore.

Parking Survey Has Good Start

A survey of parking in the downtown area of Escanaba, given precedence in a planning program ordered by the City Council, is off to a good start, reports Thompson Dyke of Harland Bartholomew & Associates.

The City has employed the planning consultants for the program that has two phases: 1 - The parking survey and report; and 2 - A comprehensive city-wide plan.

"We are on schedule with the parking survey and we should be able to give a final report and recommendations on May 12," Dyke said today. He gave a preliminary report to the Planning Commission at a meeting Thursday afternoon in the City Hall.

Preliminary findings show there are 1,589 parking spaces (on street and off-street) both in public and private ownership in the business district area under study.

The Study Area

This area extends from 5th St. on the east to 14th St. on the west along Ludington St., generally between 1st Ave. N and 1st Ave. S, and attaining a maximum depth of two and one-half blocks in the 100 block of Ludington St., from 1st Ave. N to the alley between 1st and 2nd Aves. S.

The report shows there are 322 on-street parking spaces in the area that are unrestricted — that is without meter and without a time limit.

Also in the on-street category there are 515 one-hour metered spaces; 47 two-hour metered spaces; 15 fifteen-minute spaces; and one loading space, Dyke reported.

Off-street spaces for parking (both privately and publicly owned) total 230 without restriction, and 90 two-hour spaces in municipal lots. There are 202 employee parking spaces and 168 customer parking spaces in the off-street category.

DiStefano Is Reclassified

DETROIT (AP) — Victor C. DiStefano, father of eight, was notified today he will not be drafted for military service as a male nurse.

The notification came from the office of U.S. Rep. William D. Ford, D-Mich.

Ford's office said it had been assured by DiStefano's draft board in Brooklyn, N.Y., he would be reclassified from 1-A, eligible, to 3-A, deferred because of children.

DiStefano, 34, was notified last week that he faced callup because he was a qualified nurse and there was a shortage of women nurses.

He was rejected for service 10 years ago because he had two children.

DiStefano has lived in the Detroit area since 1954, but his hometown draft board retained jurisdiction.

Since he received the original notice of callup, DiStefano has been the subject of numerous widely circulated news stories. At one point he said he would ask U.S. Sen. Robert Kennedy, D-N.Y., for help since Kennedy is the father of nine children. Earlier this week the draft board said it might reconsider his case.

Spring Planting Starts In State

LANSING (AP) — Some Michigan farmers already have started their spring planting, the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service said Thursday.

There was very little snow in the state. A few fields of oats have been planted in Lower Michigan. Farmers also had started fertilizing fields.

Michigan's winter wheat crop was reported in good condition. There was very little winter kill and moisture supplies were adequate to surplus.

The 1966 winter wheat crop was forecast at 28.65 million bushels. This was four per cent above last year but 22 per cent below the 1960-64 average.

Add To Faculty At Bay College

Bay de Noc Community College Board members, meeting Thursday night, approved the offering of contracts to seven new faculty members.

A report was made by Sam Lind, dean of students, on enrollment projections and the faculty positions and budget figures were based upon projected enrollment growth. Lind reported on the numbers of students from various areas, the percentages of high school classes, the various fields of study and degrees sought, and other factors.

It is expected that approximately 25 per cent of the high school graduating classes in Delta County will enter Bay de Noc Community College this fall. This is approximately the same percentage as last year.

Lind, who had visited with the high school counselors, reported that the number of high school seniors who expect to go on to college has increased since the establishment of the Community College.

The average of various high schools in the county would be approximately 40 to 50 per cent of the high school seniors going somewhere to college this fall. This would include those who are planning to go into technical institutes and other occupational programs, such as those offered at the Community College.

In other parts of the report, the survey shows that two thirds of the students expect to live at home, that 52.6 per cent expect to bring cars to campus, and that 67.4 per cent expect to work while in college. In other surveys of students who entered last fall, conducted by the American College Testing Program, 32 percent indicated an interest in intramural athletics, 12 percent were interested in collegiate athletics, 20 percent in clubs, and 18 percent in music.

These same students checked factors given consideration in making their college choice. The factors receiving the highest rating were 49.4 percent checking consideration to good faculty and 40.6 percent in high scholastic standing.

President Richard Rinehart reported on the status of current legislation and appropriations for community colleges.

Skirt Hike Has Divided Britain

LONDON (AP) — As skirts go up-up in Britain, the public is divided on whether to stare.

Even in the chilly, damp sunless weather of the early English spring, the skirts of many girls average four inches above the knee.

Some are five and six above. When a Yorkshire factory overseer complained that production was dropping because the men spent too much time looking at young Kathleen Yorke's short, short skirt, Kathleen said, "The men shouldn't stare."

The Daily Sketch asked its readers for comment, noting that fashion experts predict skirts this summer will be shorter than ever. The paper was swamped with replies.

"Can anything be more soothing after a hard day's work at the office than a row of shapely legs in the train home?" wrote John Wright of Orpington, Kent.

"Britain is depraved enough without having girls going about half dressed," H. G. Jenner, Blythe, Northumberland, commented.

Said J. M. Hampstead of London: "All I can say is, three cheers for the fashion designers. How could they do more? They give the girls the fashions they want. And, let's face it, they give us men one of the prettiest sights in the streets for years."

A restaurant in nearby Amsterdam refused to admit Pat Gadd, 17, because her skirt was too short.

"When this young lady came into my restaurant I was flabbergasted," said Margaret Fox, 62.

Pat said she didn't think her dress was indecent. Her boyfriend Ray Pearce, 18, commented: "I don't think Pat's dress was too short. In fact, I would like to see it shorter."

FIVE ESCANABA Daily Press carriers have qualified for a four-day, all-expense paid trip to Washington, D.C., in a Press subscriptions contest, and will leave for the capital on Monday, May 2, announces George Coan, Press circulation manager. Two of the boys won't be able to make the trip because of earlier commitments and will be otherwise compensated. C&H Stock Still Stalled

Ore Project Excites Market

Trading in the common stock of Calumet & Hecla, Inc., was stalled in the New York Stock Exchange today for the sixth straight session, the longest leading delay ever recorded on the New York Stock Exchange.

NYSE members have been forbidden to accept orders for the stock.

The issue was last traded April 6 when the company announced a $5 million ton ore discovery in Upper Michigan.

Jung issued a statement of "clarification" on Thursday that shed little light on the situation. He said the company "estimated the existence of a multi-million-ton continuation of the Calumet conglomerate lode, in depth and laterally, containing sufficient copper of potential interest for a new large-scale mining operation."

No decision on mining will be made until about Aug. 1.

The furor in C&H stock trading caused by the copper "find" at the company's old Calumet & Hecla Mine at Calumet is not a new discovery, but rather a new interest in an old property.

The C&H Mine was mined to a depth of 5,600 feet vertically and closed years ago.

It will have to be dewatered, an expensive process, to be reworked at the 6,000 foot level to remove the copper of the new project which is causing all the commotion. C&H has contracted with Bechtel Corp. to explore the deposit of the C&H and project a mining development there.

Jung has said that the study now underway will determine whether the deposit can be mined profitably, but that the company's own Geological Department is confident that it can be done.

A few days before announcement of the new project C&H President Paul W. Robson said at Calumet that better days were ahead for the district. The company employs 1,300 miners at its Calumet operations and is certain to increase the number in the next few years, said Robson.

C&H operates four old mines in the Calumet area. Two years ago it launched a $9 million program for putting three new mines into production, the new Kingston which went into production in mid-1965, and the old Centennial and Osceola mines. All are expected to reach full output early in 1967.

Robson said "I want to make it crystal clear once and for all that C&H is back in the mining business to stay. In the last year we have done a lot of soul-searching."

Pen Tube, Knife Revive Boy In Street Surgery

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Three doctors and a nurse happened to be passing by when Jack Baker, 5, was struck down by a car in rush hour traffic.

"He was knocked at least four car lengths," said Dr. Emilio Ferrara, a dentist.

"He wasn't breathing and was turning blue," said Ferrara, who drove up with a nurse Jean Carr.

Ferrara administered heart massage and mouth-to-mouth resuscitation as two more physicians, Dr. Earl G. Solomon and his wife, Ann, came along Thursday.

"When you see a person is not breathing, the procedure is a tracheotomy," Mrs. Solomon said.

She started the operation with a pocket knife borrowed from a passerby but it was too dull.

"We called again and someone gave me a larger knife," Mrs. Solomon said.

"It worked."

"We also wanted a straw but someone took a ball point pen apart and handed me the hollow tube.

"It worked nicely."

Mrs. Solomon said the child started to breathe again when she blew air into the tube and Dr. Ferrara continued heart massage.

The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rollin Baker, was hospitalized and was in critical condition today.

Dr. Solomon is an instructor at the University of Cincinnati College of Medicine and his wife, a native of Winnipeg, Canada, is a resident in psychiatry at General Hospital.

The driver involved in the accident was not charged.

Northern Pike Placed In Pond

The Michigan Dept. of Conservation today completed transfer of 60 northern pike—20 females and 40 males—into the pike pond at the head of Little Bay de Noc.

The pond, started last year by Operation Bootstrap, has been taken over and rebuilt by the Conservation Dept.

Clifford Long, fish biologist for the Escanaba District, said the spawning females are expected to produce about 1,000,000 eggs. The eggs will hatch in about two weeks and the young pike kept in the pond until June when they are large enough (about 2 to 3 inches) to be able to survive in the bay.

The pike placed in the pond were taken from nets set off the mouth of the Rapid River by Conservation officers. Twelve females and 37 males were placed in the pond Thursday with the remainder being transferred today.

The pike placed in the pond were taken from nets set off the mouth of the Rapid River by Conservation officers. Twelve females and 37 males were placed in the pond Thursday with the remainder being transferred today.

Clifford Long, fish biologist for the Escanaba District, said the spawning females are expected to produce about 1,000,000 eggs. The eggs will hatch in about two weeks and the young pike kept in the pond until June when they are large enough (about 2 to 3 inches) to be able to survive in the bay.
